An alcohol jar possessed by a priest
in late Goryeo era

* Search "Goryeo" in wikipedia if you'd like to know

The jar usually remained empty.
However, over years,
it'd suddenly fill itself
with mysterious alcohol and whoever consumed
it would be given mysterious powers

Currently the jar remains to be my family treasure

Did you clean the jar ?
Yes, of course I clean it everyday
Is it really true that the jar creates alcohol ?
It's hard to believe
Well, I haven't seen it myself, but that's what's been said.
Though no one would believe unless they see it happen
Your father said he hasn't seen it happen. I think it's just an old legend.

Father said a traveler said something...
I saw....!
Korean traditional house on top of a hill in Seoul.

It shouldn't be too hard to find

It will be hard....

I am so going to ....

Does your brother always practice like that?
It looks tiresome
Yeah, he has to be tough to get the jar back
You see, whoever has it isn't going to just hand it over.
He was acting pretty rough in Japan also.
He literally destroyed a temple
And wrecked few restaurants in China
It was pretty crazy.
I think all he thinks about is getting the jar back
Well... I can't blame him for being how he is now since his whole life has evolved around the jar.

Don't say stuff about me !
It s time to go catch the thief

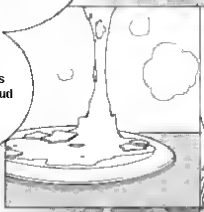
This one requires hot temperature for a short period. You've got to make it done quickly.

Before you roast ingredients, you prepare boiling oil.

By doing so, you will keep its original color and taste.



The whole point of this is to let smell and taste of each ingredients infuse each other.

All done
